1. You do not need to indiscriminately accept how you were raised, nor do you need to discard those aspects of your upbringing that were solid and worthy.
2. Look for strengths in weaknesses. There are worthy stones lying about in the midst of all the rubble.
3. You cannot hope to succeed in life if you view your failures as the results of your parent's wrongdoings.
4. SECRET: Scripture places the main burden upon the individual for how they turn out.
5. NOT TRUE: A child cannot rise above his upbringing...or sink below it.
